The Friends of the Hudson Public Library have been very successful in raising funds for the Library through their annual book sale.

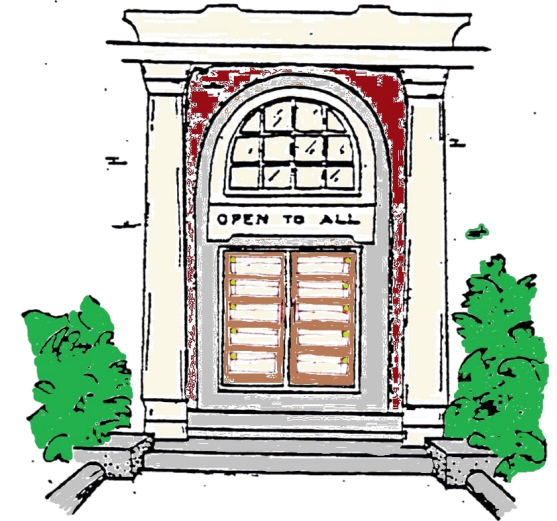

Thousands of books are sold each year at extremely affordable prices. The money raised is then spent on items which improve and expand services offered by the Library, items which the Library might otherwise not be able to afford.

The Friends of the Hudson Public Library also sponsor events and host activities that take place at the library.

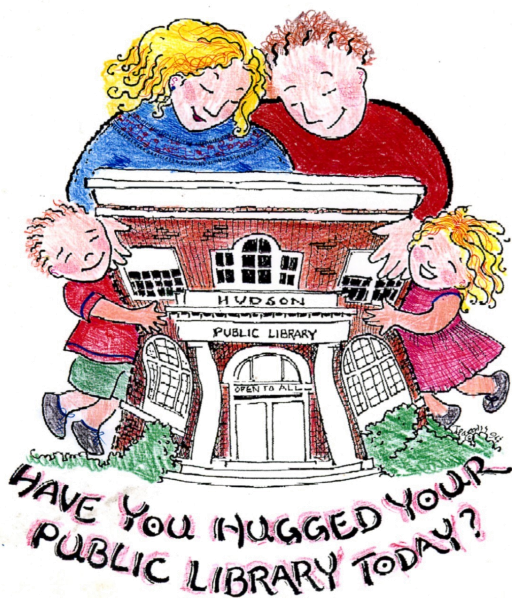

Support by the Friends helps the Library maintain its role in providing resources and information to the Hudson community.
